

My light poem

The light screams with power as it battles through the black Colours fight for freedom from the inky blackness
It senses power and goes wild shooting across the sky
Like crazy lightening
It zooms through space burning itself without knowing
The fire like glow melts the icy blue
The perfect purple sparkles like a star

The light fades away as it reaches the edge
White shines like stars
Through the dark winter sky
A riot of colour
Dances across the night
Like fireworks exploding into light
It's like a space rainbow,
It disappears as fast as it came and it Leaves a trail of colours
